Announcement published in the U.K. by the Imperial War Graves Commission in December last.

The Imperial War Graves Commission announce that copies of their lists of Civilian War Dead for the United Kingdom Malta and other areas will, as completed, be deposited with the Dean and Chapter of Westminster. At the end of hostilities the lists will be handed over officially and the civil Defence Services and the civilian dead will be associated in commemoration in Westminster Abbey with the sailors, soldiers, airmen and merchant seamen of the Empire honoured there.

The lists, may as from time to time announced, be consulted by relatives of the dead at the Commission's office in London and in Edinburgh, but not at the Abbey; those at present available for consultation do not include deaths which have taken place since the 30th September, 1941.

The deposit of lists in Westminster Abbey will not of course preclude a similar commemoration of civilian dead elsewhere, and the Commission have already compiled lists of names which will be available for use in Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland, or any part of the Empire overseas.
